

Neil D. Freeman is Chairman and CEO of Aries Capital, LLC, a full-service real estate lender and mortgage banking firm offering long-term, interim and mezzanine loans. Mr. Freeman is also a principal in Aries Real Estate Fund and Urban Development Fund, two direct lending affiliates of Aries Capital. Throughout his 25-year career in the finance and real estate ownership industries, he has funded more than $3 billion in commercial and multifamily properties, including $1 billion in hotel assets. Mr. Freeman's entities have also held equity interests in real estate worth more than $250 million, including apartments, hotels, shopping centers and land developments.

Mr. Freeman, formerly a licensed CPA, received his BSBA degree in Accounting from the University of Florida, and his MBA degree from Stanford University. Highly active within his field, he is a member of real estate organizations including MBA, ICSC, and REIA. Mr. Freeman also serves as an adjunct Real Estate professor at DePaul University in Chicago and serves on The Executive Board of DePaul's Real Estate Center.

Aries Capital and affiliates maintain offices in Chicago, Phoenix, and Houston.